

Central Europe on the path to Resource Efficiency?

BERLIN Conference 13–14 October 2011

Aim

Since 2009, ACT CLEAN partners from politics, business and science have cooperated to support Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) throughout Central Europe to implement eco-efficient production processes. ACT CLEAN promotes environmental technologies and management systems by connecting demand and supply: It provides SMEs with technological and managerial know-how and facilitates the marketing of already existing solutions – across national borders. Special attention is paid on increasing resource efficiency in SME for the benefit of both, environment and SME. However, enterprises throughout Central European countries are not tapping the full potential of resource efficiency.

The Berlin Conference “ACT Clean. Central Europe on the path to Resource Efficiency?” is to highlight Central European framework conditions for environmental innovations and environmental technologies using the example of resource efficiency in production processes – through the lens of policy-makers, intermediaries, Cleaner Production Centers and businesses. Participants will come from ministries, business associations and research institutes from Central Europe.

As hosts, the Federal Ministry for the Environment (BMU) and the German Federal Environmental Agency (UBA) cordially invite all interested enterprises, business associations, chambers, multipliers and public authorities to the conference.

On October 13th an evening reception will be organized for participants at the GIZ Representative Office.
